

Hello

If you're a regular reader of Hairflair & Beauty you'll have noticed that we've given ourselves a makeover to really start the new year in style! All your favourite features are still here – best ever expert tips, style advice, A-list essentials and red-hot new hair looks – but now you'll also find tons more beauty inspiration piled to suit your pocket! Want to know how to work the latest red lips trend? Which celebrity fragrance will make him melt? How to get perfect DIY nails? What the hottest hair hue is? We've got all this and more covered, plus look out for our new health and well-being pages, to keep you feeling as great on the inside as you're looking on the outside! And don't miss your chance to save a massive 20% at Regis, and win a gorgeous new look courtesy of award-winning hairdresser Erol Douglas.

We'd love to hear what you think of the new look. Hairflair & Beauty so email me at editor@hairmag.co.uk to send me your views and maybe you could feature in the next issue!

Wishing you a happy, healthy and beautiful 2008!

Ruth
Ruth Page, Editor

WHAT WE'RE BUYING INTO THIS MONTH...

"I'm obsessed with keeping my blonde locks in top condition. Australian Organics Nourishing Restorative Conditioner, £3.99, is ideal, as it protects my colour and gives a hydrating boost."
Claire Muffett, Deputy Editor

"I always used to struggle with false eyelashes until I discovered Revlon's Fantasy Lengths, £5.99. They are unbelievably easy to apply, stay on throughout the night and transform tired eyes in an instant."
Hollie Bennett, Sales Executive

"I'm a make-up queen and this funny, eye-catching compact from Teaco Designer Eyes, £4.75, in Orchidie will help to recreate the smoky grey eyes that prevailed at all the catwalk shows this season."
Rachel Gilbert, Assistant Editor

WHAT WE'RE BUYING

"I'm obsessed with keeping my blonde locks in top condition.

Australian Organics

Nourishing Restorative Conditioner, £3.99, is ideal, as it protects my colour and gives a hydrating boost."

Claire Muffett, Deputy Editor

