Martine's Beauty secrets

This week our beauty columnist Martine McCutcheon is getting into the festival spirit...

Look after your locks
Washing your hair is generally a no-go, so use Batiste Tropical Dry Shampoo, £1.49, to refresh and revitalise it. Not only does it have a gorgeous smell, but it also...

Brighten your eyes
If you know how to party in style at festivals, there's no doubt you'll be slightly bleary-eyed the morning after. Invest in some Boots Brightening Eye Drops, £2.93, to keep yours fresh.

Nourish those lips
Keep your lips smooth and nourished for any hot festival romance that might come your way! I really like this Dr Organic Tea Tree Lip Balm, £2.99, which smells fabulous.

Go for gloss
Lipgloss always makes you look like you've made an effort — even if the rest of your make-up is totally natural. My new personal fave is this Elf Super Glossy Lip Shine in Honeydew, £1.50 — which is great because it has an SPF 100.

Fake a glow
Use this gorgeous Bloom Non Shimmer Instant Bronzing Gel, £13.70, to keep you looking glowy, even when you're knocked from the night before's antics...

Treat your body
If you're an extra clean girl and don't mind queuing for a quick shower, make sure you pack this Yes To Carrots Travel With C Body Essentials, £11.99. There's a waterproof washbag with everything from shower gel to hand cream inside.

Keep your cool
A cheeky little water spritz is the perfect way to cool down and this Evian Brumisateur Facial Spray, £3.50, might be the closest thing you get to having a shower.
