

LUST HAVES GET UP CLOSE AND PERSONAL WITH A SMOOTH SHAVE

1

Optimal Effective Shaving Foaming Gel, £11.95, Payot Homme (www.feelunique.com). This French beauty company underlines its simple masculine appeal in the understated branding, so there's no chance of an embarrassing bathroom cabinet mix-up here. The gel turns into a creamy lather, which feels very cool on the skin, and there's a pleasant after-smell, which is not too overpowering. Effective but nothing special.

2

The warrior within ★★ ★★
Ginger & Basil Samurai Secret Sensational Shaving Gel, £5.75, Rituals (www.rituals.com). This gel foams a lot so you only need a small amount for a reasonably smooth and clean shave. Despite ingredients of ginger and basil, it isn't particularly fragrant. Pleasing results though.

3

Oil In shave oil, £4.29, Shave Doctor (01622 859898). Many won't want the hassle of a preparation oil, however we were pleasantly surprised. This has an extremely fresh citrus fragrance, enlivens the skin and helps prevent shaving rash. You might not need to use as much as the suggested 50p size as the product is oily, but the results are great when used with your favourite shaving cream, gel or foam.

BULL DOG SHAVE GEL

Blade Runner ★★ ★★ ★★
SOS Hydrating Shave Cream, £13.95, Barefoot Botanicals (www.barefoot-botanicals.com). There are plenty of guys who head out of the door with pieces of tissue paper stuck to their face. Why not update the regime and try this aromatic cream for sensitive skin? Massage your face with this potent-containing shea butter and slippery elm and the razor, even a cheap nasty one, glides smoothly over the skin.

It's a dog's life ★★ ★★ ★★
Eco-system Soothing Shave Gel, £3.69, Bulldog at Sainsbury's. As with the rest of the Bulldog range, this is crusty and paraben-free. It also contains some fairtrade and organic ingredients. The masculine smell is thanks to eight essential oils, including patchouli and vetiver. Be careful as the gel is very runny and you can end up with a handful. Lather lovers may be disappointed with the minimum foaming.

4

Looking sharp ★★ ★★ ★★
Blade Runner, £13, Origins, at John Lewis (www.johnlewis.com). So-f geeks will love the clever name of this shaving cream. Thanks to the refreshing ingredients – it contains coriander, Australian eucalyptus and French peppermint – it smells fresh with smooth results.
